

Custom Containers from Decade

“Close Enough” Usually Isn’t

Shorter

Customization is not an afterthought at Decade.

Some suppliers will reluctantly provide you with a “custom” container in name only—a unit that is “close enough” in their view from current inventory. And that’s where Decade Products is different. We actively seek custom container business because it leverages our unique experience, resources, and capabilities. We tackle the design and production challenges others may care to avoid.

Don’t change your racking system, lift trucks, or rotator...change your container supplier.

Whether you need special size containers to work with your current material handling and shelving system, or containers to fit your lift trucks and rotators, Decade Products can provide you with a custom container solution that precisely matches your dimensional requirements.

Wider

Taller

So, don’t settle for “almost” when it comes to customized reusable container systems. Get the truly customized container you want, from the supplier you can trust—the customized container specialists at Decade Products.
